Board the Oosterdam in San Diego, California

It's exciting to board a handsome ship in one of America's most beautiful cities. As the ship's massive horn signals our departure, be sure to be up on deck as we sail past lovely homes as well as the massive aircraft carriers and other vessels of the San Diego's naval yards. The fun begins!

NOVEMBER 6, 2011

A Glorious Day at Sea

We'll sail south in the sunshine, bound for Cabo San Lucas.

To make the most out of your cruise, it's good to know all our ship offers. With the ship's deck plan in hand, we suggest you begin at the top to explore the public areas, then work your way down, deck by deck. You'll be surprised at all the facilities.

Cruising Bahia Magdalena

Today we sail through wildlife-rich Bahia Magdalena, along the western coast of Mexico. This bay is particularly noted for the seasonal migration of the California Gray Whales that come here during winter to mate.

NOVEMBER 8, 2011

Puerto Vallarta, Mexico

Golfers will relish the Marina Vallarta course, one of Mexico's finest or the Nicklaus and Weiskopf courses. More? Zip through the jungle canopy on a series of cables, snorkel, scuba dive, encounter dolphins up close, bike off road, sail to a remote beach or explore the wonderful shops, galleries and monuments in Centro and along the Malecon.

NOVEMBER 9, 2011

Mazatlan, Mexico

Though more of a working city than our other ports, Mazatlan maintains its charming Mexican character. Somehow it seems less jaded than some of Mexico's big resort cities. You'll find outstanding golf (including a Robert Trent Jones, Jr. championship course), horseback riding, scuba, snorkel, surf, tennis and parasailing. More? Drop by Pedro y Lola for lunch (try the grilled pork with chorizo) or take a break at the ever-popular El Shrimp Bucket.

Cabo San Lucas, Mexico

Americans love Cabo San Lucas for its superb beaches, luxurious surroundings, excellent golf courses, incredible shops and some of the world's best sport fishing. There is something for everyone: ride an ATV through the Baja desert, snorkel or scuba dive, cruise the Pacific aboard a yacht or go back in time with a trip to historic Todos Santos, where artists now fill many of the picturesque buildings.

NOVEMBER 11, 2011

At Sea

We love days at sea on Holland America. Some of us go to the ship's Culinary Arts Center for a hands-on cooking class with the ship's chef, some visit the Digital Workshop for free sessions on topics such as enhancing your photos or creating a blog, scrapbook or video. Others reserve a soothing treatment in the extensive spa, send e-mails to friends at home, workout in the fitness center or relax with a good book. That's just for starters.

One of the finest restaurants on any ship is the Oosterdam's (extra charge) Pinnacle Grill. Featuring outstanding steaks (if you have a big appetite, don't miss the excellent porterhouse) and seafood complemented by superb appetizers and desserts, it matches the quality of cuisine on the world's most luxurious ships.

San Diego, Return Home

All too soon our great week comes to its conclusion in sunny San Diego. This time it will be even more special for we've spent quality time with our DSUMF family and friends. Though they may scatter in many directions today, we'll be filled with the joy and tales of a very special week together. You'll be very pleased you came.
