Do You Need A WILL Or LIVING TRUST?

Why Create a Will?

A will is a signed and witnessed document that describes where you want your property to go. Many people first create a will in order to appoint a guardian to care for minor children in their absence. A will is also the place where you appoint an executor to manage the administration of your estate. The benefit of a will is that it is revocable, which means that you can make changes at any time. However, there are many reasons why you might choose to instead create a living trust.

6 REASONS You Might Want a Living Trust

1. PRESERVE PRIVACY

A will is a public document everyone can read, whereas a trust is private.

2. AVOID PROBATE

Unlike a trust, a will is subject to probate which can be time consuming and costly.

3. PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Unlike a will, a living trust provides for a trustee to manage your property.

4. ASSET PROTECTION

A trust can be created with provisions to protect your assets from creditors.

5. CAPACITY PLANNING

A trust enables you to plan in the event you can no longer care for yourself.

6. DEPENDENTS

A trust allows you to distribute income to children and care for special needs.

Create Your Own Legacy

Whether you choose to create a will or living trust plan, there are a number of ways that you can include our charity in your plan and create a legacy to be remembered. One of the easiest ways to fulfill your charitable goals and help continue our work is through a bequest. Your attorney can draft language making a gift to us of a specific asset, percentage of your estate or the residue (what's left after specific bequests are made to your family).

Another option is to create a tax deductible gift which will provide lifetime income to a family member or friend. For additional information on planning options or to receive a free attorney referral, please contact us. We look forward to helping you create your legacy!
